
CORONAVIRUS (COVID-19) – FILM - “Crew Change”July 2020

Dear Member,

Our previous film “Coronavirus - Protection on Board”, addressed the threats that arise when a vessel reaches port and identified the measures and the procedures to be followed to reduce the risk of seafarers contracting the virus during their vessel’s time in port.

Restrictions arising from COVID-19 have made it extremely difficult for crew changes to be undertaken, with the unwelcome result that many seafarers have remained onboard their vessels far longer than their contracts originally contemplated.

The fourth film in our series “Coronavirus - Crew Change” examines the procedures that need to be followed during both embarkation and disembarkation in order to ensure that these operations are undertaken safely and the risk of infection appropriately controlled.

“Coronavirus - Crew Change” was produced by Marine Media Enterprises with the support and assistance of Columbia Ship Management, Cyprus Port Authority, Cyprus Shipping Chamber, Anglo Eastern Ship Management, Lavar Shipping, Singapore Shipping Association, Bernhard Schulte Shipmanagement, Petronav Ship Management, The International Chamber of Shipping, The Nautical Institute, MCTC Marine Ltd, Seaworld Management and Steamship Mutual.

Our previous three programmes “Coronavirus - Stay Safe On Board” , “Coronavirus – Mental Resilience On Board” and “Coronavirus – Protection on Board” are also available to download from our website where you will also find links to subtitled language versions of the film.
